FROM ALTAR TO PRISON.

Thief Robbed a House Before Marrying and Was Arrested. Louisville, Aug. 20.-Old Charley Loh ring, the thief, went out last Tuesday Bight, or rather early Wednesday morn-ing, and when he came home in the mornstolen from the Kunnen residence on Laurel

A few hours later he was standing at the alter being married. He was arrested for the robbery just as he was coming out of the house, and when his wife heard of it she said: "Charler, I never knew you were that kind of a fellow."

Charley Lobring has been a thief all his life. He has served terms in Frankfort, Jeffersonville and Columbus, and his name often to count. His right name is Charles Effingham, but his stealing names are Lohring and Clark. He is a conning fellow, and often -protects himself in a manner that makes it difficult for the po-lice to get at him. Last summer he was a leading singer in the choir in the Highway

RAILWAY HOSPITAL CAR

Newest Thing in Development of Rolling Stock.

MANY LIVES WILL BE SAVED

Injured People May Receive Promu Surgical Treatment as Effectively as in a City Hospital-Fitted Un With Beds, an Operating Room and a New Form of Stretcher.

One of the newest things devised for us in railroading is a bospital car, and it is probable that the Baltimore and Ohio will eventually add to its possessions this latest development in the way of rolling stock. The Baltimore and Obio has less need of such a service than most of the big doesn't require it some time or other. The tirst hospital car has been put in operation by Frank H. Caldwell, chief surgeon of the Plant system. Railroads, as a rule, have relief cars, intended simply for the transfer of injured employes and pas-sengers, but the belief has always been

LIVES WILL BE SAVED. With the coming of the new car there ill be no delay in the relief of a sufferer, for even operation, may be performed while intransit; and this, too, under the most favorable conditions. It is generally conceded in railway circles that this is a humane. e and up-to-date idea that will be the means of saving many lives.

There are two general divisions to the bos pital car, what might be called the ward and the operating room, with a small room for consultation, between them. Each of these in the car which has already been built, and after which others are to be modelled. is an ideal of compactness and complete ness. Because of the limited room, it is necessary that every possible space-saving device be used, as well as to have every de tall as perfect as art and science cau make it. The car itself outwardly has much the appearance of an ordinary taggage car. It is strongly built and decorated in the simplest style. It is within that the wonders are to a third of the interior, and is a bare, updozen wrought iron beds, with wire woven springs. The legs of the bed rest on eavy, broad, corrugated rubber tips on the floor of the car. These soften the jolt and jar of the train, and prevent the beds

DESCRIPTION OF A WARD. By a unique arrangement these beds are inged so that when not in use they can be fastened against the wall and be entirely out of the way. These beds are taken down one at a time as needed for sufferers, or for the purpose of airing. Besides these, there is an air bed, of the most improved pattern.

This can be folded into a very small compass and placed in a closet especialy made for it, which also answers for a chair. When needed, it takes but the work of a Among the other things in the ward is a the car by strong straps. Connected with springs, so delicately constructed as to pre vent any jolt or jar of the car being commu-mented to the occupant, A new form of stretcher will be used to transport the suf-ferers to and in the car. It is of cypress, light, springy, yet strong and durable.

It is made a few inches narrower than SPECIAL—Sanday, August 23, Prof. J. H.

of the train. THE OPERATING ROOM. In the center of the car, between the con-sulting room and the wards, is the operating room, which is the joy of all surgeons who have in years past been compelled to contend with the crude methods of attending to the injured in railroad accidents. This in the majority of cases made the necessity of an operation a thing to be deplored, owing to the inadequate means at hand. The operating table is of iron, with August 27 to 31 a glass top, with all necessary appliances for the performance of perfectly asceptic

In this way all danger of disease germs lingering about the car is done away with.

car is far less than that of an ordinary passenger coach. The latter, according to modern demand, must be finished in the finest and most expensive woods, of various and harmonizing varieties, while the furnishings must be of the most luxurious

DIVIDED INTO SECTIONS. There must be curtains of rare textures, Brussels carpets and a hundred and one things that the public demand, yet rarely seem to notice unless they are absent. Al this adds to the cost. With the new hospital car there is nothing but what is practically needed for the saving of life or for the comfort of the injured, so that its first cost is estimated at $4,000.

In operating a system of hospital cars the railroad will be divided into sections of 200 hundred miles, and a car assigned to each section. The permanent station will be in the middle of each section, and thus 100 miles in either direction will be controlle1.

It is estimated that when the system has become complete and far-reaching, at least one-half of the danger and suffering resulting from improper care and attendance in railroad wrecks and collisions will be done away with, and also the payment of thousands of dollars in the way of damages will be saved the railroad companies.

FUNERAL OF PROF. CROUCH.

Confederate Society of Maryland Will Take Charge of It. Baltimore, Aug. 20.-The Confederate Society of Maryland will have charge of the funeral of Prof. Crouch, the author of

"Kathleen Mayourneen," who died Tues day night at Portland, Me.

The trustees of the Crouch benefit fund. appointed during the winter, when the age musician was so seriously ill, to take charge of his effects, will convey the funds left from the $1,000 subscribed at that time to bis family, which is almost left penul-less by the death of the musical genius.

The body will probably arrive Friday and the funeral will take place on the fol-A telegram received from Portland stated that the old professor's death was peace-ful. By his side at the time of his death were Miss Charlotte Thomas and George A. Thomas, the first pupils to receive instructions from the venerable musician in this country. He was paying a visit to their bone at the time, and there celebrated his last birthday. A volume of his unpublished songs will be issued, together with his memoirs, the
